

Coming Home

You didn't seem quick enough
Didn't think you were listening
You know it hurt too much
But now I've come to realise
That You discipline the ones you love
And you're making me into the person
You designed me to be

You were patient and you wooed me and you called me to you

*I'm coming back
I'm running to you
Turning from where I have been
I'm coming now
Surrendering
Back on your path once again
I'm coming home*

I've tried everything
Thought I could do it my own way
Took my life in my hands
But now I've come to realise
My hands aren't big enough
To carry this journey to the end
And I'm lost without You

You were patient and you wooed me and you called me to you
You were faithful, in your mercy, I know we'll see it through

Incredible your love
Amazing your grace
Astounding you are
